

The ROLES Project

Restoration of Labrador Exploration Sites

The ROLES Project aims to clean-up abandoned mineral exploration sites in Labrador. This project is being initiated by Altius Minerals in collaboration with several industry partners, government, and aboriginal communities. The ROLES Project will be conducting interviews during the spring of 2013 to determine the location of these sites. We will visit these sites throughout 2013 to document the type and amount of waste material at these identified sites. Removal of the abandoned debris will begin in 2014.

Goals of The ROLES Project:

- Identify, take inventory and assess abandoned exploration sites throughout Labrador;
- Begin removing waste material at priority sites, including items such as oil drums, drilling equipment, batteries, and various petroleum products;
- Work directly with community members and local companies; and
- Provide opportunities for site rehabilitation training.
